

Centre for Ethics
UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO
FACULTY OF LAW

CENTRE FOR INNOVATION LAW
AND POLICY

University of Toronto
Joint Centre for Bioethics

Innovative. Interdisciplinary. International.
Improving health care through bioethics.

The Ethics of Ghost Authorship in Biomedical Research: Concerns and Remedies

Workshop

Wednesday May 4th, 2011 from 8:30 am to 5:15 pm
FLA (Classroom A), Flavelle House, 78 Queen's Park Avenue
Faculty of Law, University of Toronto

- 8:30-8:35 Introduction and welcome note
Prof. Frank Cunningham, Director, Centre for Ethics, Professor Emeritus of Philosophy and of Political Science, University of Toronto
Prof. Trudo Lemmens, Faculties of Law & Medicine, University of Toronto
- 8:35-10:15 Panel 1, Context
8:35-8:55 The Senator Grassley Report on Ghost Authorship and Policies at Journals and Medical Schools.
Paul Thacker, Investigative Journalist
8:55-9:15 Emerging Controversies in Ghostwriting
Prof. Adriane Fugh-Berman, Department of Physiology and Biophysics, Georgetown University School of Medicine
9:15-9:30 Being the Ghost in the Machine
Dr. Linda Lögdberg, Medical Writer, Adjunct Faculty member, Science Department, Georgia Perimeter College
9:30-9:45 Biomedical Authorship and Its Meaning
Prof. Mario Biagioli, Department of the History of Science, Harvard University
9:45-10:15 Questions and Panel Discussion
- 10:15-10:35 Coffee Break
- 10:35-12:30 Panel 2, Remedies and Legal Aspects of Ghostwriting Practices
10:35-10:50 Medical Journal Responses to Ghostwriting
Prof. Jocelyn Clark, Senior Editor, PLoS Medicine
10:50-11:15 Regulatory and Legal Options for Dealing with Ghostwriting Practices
Prof. Trudo Lemmens, Faculties of Law & Medicine, University of Toronto
Prof. Simon Stern, Faculty of Law, University of Toronto
11:15-12:00 Class Action Litigation, Expert Evidence, and Ghostwritten publications
Bijan Esfandiari, Attorney, Baum, Hedlund, Aristei & Goldman
Prof. Leemon McHenry, Department of Philosophy, California State University
Prof. David Healy, Department of Psychological Medicine, Cardiff University School of Medicine
12:00-12:30 Questions and Panel Discussion
- 12:30-1:30 Lunch

The workshop is organized as part of a research project on Promoting Integrity in Biomedical Research (Trudo Lemmens), funded by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council.

- 1:30-14:45 Panel 3: Academic Integrity and Professional Ethics: Institutional Responses
 1:30-14:15 Institutional Options and Professional Ethics Perspectives
 Prof. David Korn, Vice-Provost for Research, Harvard University
 Prof. Lorraine Ferris, Associate Vice Provost, Health Sciences Policy and Strategy, University of Toronto
 Prof. David McKnight, Associate Dean, Equity & Professionalism, Faculty of Medicine, University of Toronto
 Prof. Ross Upshur, Director, Joint Centre for Bioethics, University of Toronto
- 14:15-14:45 Questions and Panel Discussion
- 14:45-15:00 Coffee Break
- 15:00-16:15 Panel 4: Regulating Medical Writing and Knowledge Transfer
 15:00-15:10 Comments from a Patient Advocacy Perspective
 Prof. Harriet Rosenberg, Health and Society Program, Department of Social Science, York University
- 15:10-15:20 Regulatory Tools and Knowledge Flows
 Prof. Sergio Sismondo, Professor of Philosophy and Sociology, Queen's University
- 15:20:15:30 Comments from a Medical Writing and Industry Marketing Perspective
 Dr. Alastair Matheson, Research Consultant and Medical Writer
- 15:30-15:40 Comments from a medical community perspective
 Prof. An-Wen Chan, Women's College Research Institute, University of Toronto
- 15:40-16:15 Questions and Panel Discussion
- 16:15-17:15 Wrap-up Session and General Discussion
 Facilitated by Prof. Raymond De Vries, Bioethics Program, School of Medicine, University of Michigan & Maastricht University

The workshop is organized as part of a research project on Promoting Integrity in Biomedical Research (Trudo Lemmens), funded by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council.