SPOUSAL SUPPORT ADVISORY GUIDELINES CASE SUMMARIES

[Sept. 13, 2007 – Feb. 4, 2008]

[This update covers new cases decided since our last update, Carol Rogerson and Rollie Thompson, "The Advisory Guidelines 31 Months Later", Sept. 12, 2007 which can be found on the SSAG website at <http://www.law.utoronto.ca/faculty/rogerson/ssag.html> ]

A. Appeal Cases

D.L.M. v. J.A.M., [2008] N.B.J. No. 9, 2008 NBCA 2 (Larlee J.A., Turnbull and Robertson JJ.A. concurring)

Married 6 years, 2 children 9 and 5, with wife

Husband working as superintendent for parents' rental property company, salary $42,684

Wife primary caregiver, also worked in company, now 2 jobs, call centre/retail, $19,000/yr.

Trial judge ordered child support, no further spousal support

Issues: gift vs. loan re home from husband's parents, imputing income to husband

Gift, not loan, wife entitled to half of net proceeds from home

Couple income split during marriage, total close to $70,000, amount imputed in interim

No explanation by husband for drop in income after separation

Income imputed at $70,000, support issues remitted to trial judge

Trial judge to consider entitlement and, if entitlement, application of Guidelines

[Child support, $983/mo., Guidelines range (no s. 7 expenses): $149-$668/mo.]

Fisher v. Fisher, [2008] O.J. No. 38, 2008 ONCA 11 (Lang J.A., Doherty and Goudge JJ. A. concurring)

19 year marriage, separation 2004, no children

Husband completes B.A. and B. Ed. during marriage; then teacher earning $65,000; 1999 new job with teacher's federation; income increases in last 3 years of marriage and continues to increase after separation: 2003, $81,800; 2004, $120,000; 2005, $132,000; 2006, $140,000

Husband new partner with two young children, staying home, receiving $700 per month child support

Wife worked during marriage, sometimes full-time, sometimes part-time; also took university courses;

average earnings $30,000; income $41,000 for 2 years before separation unusually high

Wife depressed after separation; unemployed and on disability benefits; back to full-time employment, earning $30,000

October 2004, interim support $2000/mo

Trial 2006: spousal support of $2600/mo March 1 to Dec. 1, 2006, $1800/mo in 2007, $1050 in 2008;

either party able to request review in 2009; no retroactive support; no reference to SSAG even though parties argued

Wife's appeal allowed

Trial judge made errors in finding of fact relating to wife's employment and potential new relationship

Wife's claim for support primarily non-compensatory

Husband's obligations to second family not to be relied upon to reduce support; new partner capable of working;

No basis for review order; no specified uncertainty

Support to be made retroactive to Oct. 2004; consistent with SSAG which include interim support in calculating duration of awards

Time-limited order appropriate; seven years of transitional support

Incomes determined by averaging incomes earned in 3 years prior to separation and in the year of separation; result: husband $89,825 and wife $35,500

Trial judge's order replaced by order of spousal support for $3000 per month (for 3.5 years) beginning October 2004; step-down April 1 2008 to $1,500 (for 3.5 years); terminating Sept 1, 2011 (7 years total)

SSAG a "useful tool" or "litmus test" in determining reasonableness of award; when counsel address SSAG; trial judges should provide reasons if award amount outside range

Range: $1,290 to $1,720 ($15,483 to $20,644 annually), 9.5 to 19 years

Court's award outside range for both amount (higher) and duration (lower), but allowed by restructuring because with global range [global range: $147,088 to $392,236; trial judge's global award $94,200, outside range; Court of Appeal's global award $189,000, within global range, at low end]

Beninger v. Beninger, [2007] B.C.J. No. 2657, 2007 BCCA 619 (Prowse J.A., Finch C.J.B.C. and Huddart J.A. concurring)

25 year marriage, 4 children, separation 2000; two dependent children, one with each parent

Wife obtains M.Sc. in economics in early years of marriage and but homemaker after birth of first child
Husband lawyer; obtains master of laws in early years of marriage; unsuccessful business ventures at end of marriage; bankruptcy 2001; unemployed due to depression; then consulting business

2003 order: assuming income of $312,000, child support for 1 child $2,111/mo; spousal support $6,500

2004 order: based on income of $120,000, child support for one child of $888/mo; spousal support $2,000; subsequent variation requiring contribution to university expenses

Husband returns to work as tax lawyer on contract basis in 2006; income $364,500; remarried; new spouse earning $75,000; seeks variation of child and spousal support

Wife health issues, no income

Chambers judge finds husband's income to be $318,900 (after deduction of business expenses of $45,000); orders spousal support of $4000 per month

Wife appeals, arguing husband's income much higher

Court of Appeal sets husband's income at $330,650; not appropriate to impute income to wife

Child support raised to $2,711.07

Use of SSAG on variation: appropriate on these facts, wife has on-going entitlement to substantial support both on compensatory and non-compensatory basis; appropriate to base spousal support on husband's increased income because career linked to education acquired during marriage and years of work during marriage while wife cared for children

Range under with child support formula if husbands' income $330,000: $8,500 - $10,000, leaving wife with 48.9% of NDI

Spousal support ordered: $9000/mo, indefinite

B. The Without Child Support Formula

Fernandes v. Fernandes, [2008] B.C.J. No. 130, 2008 BCSC 103 (Bracken J.)

 Wife health issues, very limited ability to earn income, income either zero or $4,500
 Spousal support $2000/mo
 SSAG used as litmus test for reasonableness of award:
 -if h $50,000 and w 0, range $1,500 - $2,000
 -if h $50,000 and w $4500, range $1365- $1820
 -if h $60,000 and w 0, range $1800-2400
 -if h $60,000 and w $4500, range $1665-$2220

M. (W.M.) v. M. (H.S.), 2007 CarswellBC 2667, 2007 BCSC 1629 (Rogers J.)

Very long marriage (32 or 35 years depending on date of separation chosen)

Husband's income $17,800, wife zero

Range: $550-$750, court orders $600 per month

Duggan v. Elson, [2007] O.J. No. 4188 (Ont. S.C.J.) (Brown J.)

4 year cohabitation, both parties 32

Both working at beginning of relationship but then wife starts university and now half way through degree

Husband's income $120,000; wife's income $21,892 (student loans and part-time earnings)

Interim support under Family Law Act: $500 per month from Nov. 2007 until earlier of May 2009 or trial (19 months)

Court uses husband's ssag calculations [not specified] and chooses low end of range

[Estimated range: $491-$654, duration 2 to 4 years]

Conquergood v. Dalfort, [2007] B.C.J. No. 2337, 2007 BCSC 1556 (Shabbits J.)

Unmarried cohabitation 6.5 years; both prior relationships; no children

Wife lived and worked abroad for extended periods during relationship

Husband retired, income $50,000 (pension and investments); wife income imputed at $18,000

Spousal support $300/mo for 4 years; low end of range for duration appropriate because parties were establishing themselves in separate lives before separation

[Range if 6 years: $240-$320, 3 to 6 years; if 7 years, $280-$373, 3.5 to 7 years]

Campbell v. Campbell, [2007] A.J. No. 1188, 2007 ABQB 637 (Phillips J.)

Parties married in 1971, first separated in 1992, frequent contact 1997-2000, final separation 2000 (total 29 years); 3 children

Husband paid wife $2000/mo beginning 1992; $3000/mo in 2000 and $6000/mo in 2005

Equal division of property ordered: wife receives equalization payment of $6 million

Wife agrees no claim for retroactive or on-going spousal support if equal division of property

Court applies SSAG hypothetically (ceiling ignored) to determine amount of spousal support that should have been paid 1999-2005 if wife entitled to 40% of husband's gross income; amounts ranged from $28,000 to $86,800 per month; amounts found to be excessive but used to show that $6000 per month spousal support being paid as of 2005 inordinately low

Katrib v. Katrib, [2007] A.J. No. 1156, 2007 ABQB 626 (Read J.)

29 year marriage; 3 children now adults; separation 2006

Husband 59; worked in steel industry; income $95,000 in 2005; falls into serious depression after separation and unemployed

Wife 54, homemaker; worked in day-care; 2006 income $18,526; alleges health problems and unable to keep working

Wife claims spousal support of between $2,600 and $3,500 per month in accordance with guidelines, based on income of $85,000 imputed to husband because of under-employment and zero income for her; seeking lump sum equivalent to husband's interest in matrimonial home

Property division: each left with $205,000 in assets; wife owes husband equalization payment of $207,000 if she retains home

Lump sum spousal support of $120,000 ordered; plus $17,500 for retroactive support, based on assumption husband able to earn $65,000 and wife earning $18,000; wife needs $10,000 more per year for 12 years.

[Estimated range if h $65,000 and w $18,500: $1453-$1938; low end of range for 12 years, no discounting, lump sum $209,232]

Lamb v. Lamb, [2007] B.C.J. No. 2149, 2007 BCSC 1466 (Mashuhara J.)

9 year traditional marriage plus 5 yrs. prior cohab (24 years), separate 2005

Wife one child prior relationship; one child of marriage; both adults

Husband's income $62,000

Wife's income $37,500 (interest on inheritance and equalization payment plus imputed employment income)

Spousal support of $800/mo; consistent with SSAG range
[Estimated range: $735-$980]

Casedemont v. Casedemont, [2007] O.J. No. 3843 (Ont. S.C.J.) (Linhares de Sousa J.)

Long traditional marriage [length not specified], 2 children
