

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO
FACULTY OF LAW

How to Select Courses

Step 1: Access to e.Legal

To select courses, student will need to log in to e.Legal (go to <http://www.law.utoronto.ca/> and select “E.LEGAL” in the gray bar in the top right corner of the page) using the user name and password, that will be sent to them a week prior to the opening of course selection.

The screenshot displays the top navigation bar of the University of Toronto Law School website. The navigation bar includes links for U OF T, LAW LIBRARY, E.LEGAL, CONTACT US, and SITE MAP. The E.LEGAL link is highlighted with a purple dropdown menu. The dropdown menu contains the text "Login to e.legal" and "the Law School Community". Below this text are two input fields labeled "USERNAME" and "PASSWORD". At the bottom of the dropdown menu, there is a link "Forgot your password?" and a "SIGN IN" button with a right-pointing arrow. The background of the website shows the University of Toronto Faculty of Law logo and a navigation menu with links for ADMISSIONS, ACADEMIC PROGRAMS, EXECUTIVE EDUCATION, CENTRES & PROGRAMS, and SCHOLARSHIP & PUBLICATIONS.

Step 2: Access the Course List

1 - In e.Legal go to MyFolder and click on “Course Listings” in the drop down menu.

ALTERNATIVE APPROACHES TO LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP (GRADUATE STUDENTS ONLY) (LAW245H1F) Jutta Brunnée

First Term: 3 credits; 3 hours Max. Enrol: 80
Schedule: (T: 6:10 - 9:00) 76 LLM/SJD/MSL/NDEGS/SJD U
4 JD/Exchange Student

Note: For graduate students, the course number is LAW100HF.

Note: The Blackboard program will be used for this course. Students must self-enrol in Blackboard as soon as confirmed in the course.

Attendance is mandatory.

We will examine alternative frameworks within which a wide range of legal problems can be analyzed and prescriptions evaluated. These frameworks might include those provided by "law and economics", "law and philosophy" (including utilitarianism, Kantianism and Aristotelian theories), legal history, critical legal studies, feminism, critical race theory, and sociological theories of law. Leading examples of legal scholarship in each of these intellectual veins will form the subject matter of the seminar with guest lecturers having special expertise in the different areas leading discussion.

Evaluation: three short written assignments (approx. 1500-1800 words each).

Notes:

You should select courses until you have chosen a full credit load for the academic year. At any time, you may click on MyCourses to see what you have selected. You can click on MyCourses to see the courses you have chosen, and on MySchedule to check for course conflicts.

If you leave MyCourses before making a final submission, the system will automatically save your selection. You may change your courses as often as you wish, provided you have not submitted your course selection.

To delete a course, go to MyCourses in MyFolder. Checkmark the course you want to delete, and click on “Remove from my Courses”

Avoid using the “Help” button in MyFolder. It includes information that does not apply to graduate students, including lottery and priority numbers.
