

The 2017 University of Toronto IDERD Campaign:
Commemorating the International Day for the Elimination of Racial Discrimination (IDERD)

It's 2017. Canada celebrates its 150th anniversary. Yet racism is still with us. We've taken steps against it, but it's still rooted in our institutions. How are our post-secondary institutions – faculty, staff, students and administration – responding? What aren't we doing right? This year's IDERD Campaign, "What's Anti-Racism Good for Now?", presents an opportunity to explore these troubling questions.

On March 20th, join us for a thought-provoking conference, with keynotes, panels and roundtable discussions. Then, on March 21st we present our annual IDERD Awards Ceremony, both events at the St. George Campus, U of T.
