

Looking to make an impact on Access to Justice?

The Action Group on Access to Justice is looking for student volunteers to ask people about the legal system. We want to know what the public thinks. Is it working? How can it be improved?

Volunteers will engage the public at a range of weekend community events across the province throughout the summer. Training will be provided in late May (in-person or remotely) and hours spent on this initiative will count towards pro bono or public interest requirements.

If you will be in one of our engagement cities and are ready to commit ten hours of your time to collecting evidence that will enhance access to justice please sign-up at: goo.gl/forms/xAqXfvfTsU.
